Editorial.

At a time when every one's attention is fixed on the stirring events which are taking place in Europe we fear that the doings of a Battalion in India will seem at least somewhat uninteresting. We have however decided to continue the publication of Regimental Notes because we are certain that news of the Battalion will always be welcome to those who have served in it and we hope that before the rext issue appears we shall ourselves have taken a part in the making of History.

Doings of the Battalion.

When the last number of Regimental Notes was published the Head Quarter wing was stationed at Lower Gharial and, of the other wing, one Company was in Lahore Cantonment and the other at Fort Lahore.

On Monday the 19th of August we received orders that one Company from Lower Gharial was to proceed to Ferozepore and the remainder of the Head Quarter's wing to return to Lahore Cantonment. ... beiquoso au quel or vinela buil ew jev

The Ferozepore detachment left the next morning and the remainder of the Head Quarter's wing at 9 am on Wednesday and marched to Rawalpindi where they entrained tor Lahore.

Those of us who took part in that march will agree that they do not want another like it unless the destination is Berlin We did the 43 mile march, on top of a heavy baggage fatigue in 21 hours which is not such a bad performance for a party composed largely of Recruits and Convalescents.

After our arrival at Lahore Cantonment, which is a halting stage on the main line to Karachi, we were continually being tantalised by the sight of more fortunate units on their way to the front. A large camp had been pitched for the use of troops passing through and early in October 3 men of the Battalion who were on duty in this camp were attacked by cholera and died but fortunately the disease did not spread any further.

On 30th October we were ordered to send one Company to Amritsar, leaving only one Company with Head Quarters in Lahore Cantonments

In September our hopes were in raised by the news that we were to be relieved by a Territorial Battalion, only to be dashed to the ground on receipt of orders to move to Rawalpindi

For the next few weeks our movements were uncertain, early in November we heard that we were to go on Manoeuvres with the Pindi Brigade but a few days before manoeuvres were to commence these orders were cancelled and we heard that our destination was to be Sialkot.

On 14th Novr the 6th Battalion Devon Territorials arrived at Lahore Cantonment to relieve us; the Detachment from Lahore Fort returned to Cantonments two days later and those from Ferozepore and Amritsar on the 17th November 1914.

On the evening of 18th Novr the Battalion entrained for Sialkot and arrived here the next morning.

This our present station is in many ways a great improvement on Meean-Meer it is far more compact and healthy and though the garrison is much reduced from its former size and now consists only of ourselves, the 32nd Sikh Pioneers (at present in Kohat) and the Depots of several Native Cavalry Regts, yet we find plenty to keep us occupied.

On Novr 30th there were rumours of trouble on the Frontier, the 32nd Pioneers left the next day for Kohat, and we ourselves were mobilised and sent a company under Capt. Maples to Rawalpindi.

However up to the present date we are still here and the Company from Rawalpindi rejoined us in time for Christmas

Another detachment of 2 Officers and go men has since been sent to Campbellpur but will we hope only be away a short time.

Extracts from a letter written by the wife of an officer in the 2nd Battalion.

"General Ferguson has written home to say how splendidly the Regiment has done, they were called up at a very critical time and saved the situation in the fight against the Prussian Guards."

"Colonel Gibbs, Major Townsend and Capt. Jenkins are all together and are quite well treated, the 2 last are doing well Col Gibbs has had 2 sinews in his back severed."

"Captain Umfraville is recovering from his wound, at Osborne and is doing well."

Extracts from orders.

"Lance-Serjeant Pogson, formerly in this Battalion. was awarded the Medal for distinguished conduct in the Field for;—

Near Ypres on the 8th November 1914, after his officers had all been killed or wounded, having commanded the right half of his company (part of the time detached) with great skill and gallantry and assisted company Serjt. Major Taylor in retaking trenches from the enemy."

'Major General Sir C. Ferguson Commanding 5th Dvn at Mons has publicly expressed his admiration of the splendid behaviour of The Duke of Wellington's Regt. as Rear Guard, where their courage and tenacity saved the Division."

Various.

Serjt. Major Wilkinson formerly of this Battalion, accompanied the Australian Expeditionary Force despatched against the German possessions in the Pacific. He took part in the capture and occupation of Rabaul and was in charge of a reconnaissance of the Island.

Two Families closely connected with the Regiment can boast of a fine record of service for their country.

Of the Foster family one has been killed in action and four others are serving in different Battalions of the Regiment.

Of the Hemb'ys family 7 members are serving in different Battalions of the Regiment and 2 others in other corps

Probably there are several other Regimental families that can claim as excellent a record but these two are quoted to show how the WestRiding is doing its duty.

Regimental Association

Towards the end of last year a special subscription was started with the object of helping the families of those who are fighting in France

The appeal was generously responded to by all ranks; donations have already been received from 7 companies & amount to Rs 990-10-0

These donations together with those of officers, the $\frac{1}{2}$ proceeds of an entertainment given by Mr. Thwaites in the Regtl. Theatre and other subscriptions, \mathcal{L} 160 in all, have already been sent to the Head Quarters of the Association, in England and more will be sent later.

We hope that those of our readers who have not hitherto heard of this appeal, will now send their subscriptions to
